To-Night's Indoor Baseball by Seventh Regiment Team.

The N. Y. A. C.'s Subscription Box- ing-Tourney-General Goal.

To-night Company A and H cross bats at the Seventh Regiment Armory, and the game will be exciting and well worth seeing, as will be the game between the two particular companies. They drill on the same night and have athletic and shooting competitions for supremacy between themselves, to the exclusion of the rest of the regiment. Diamond will occupy the box for H and Palmberg and Rooney will do the honors for A. Company H is yet to have a game and is putting Company F very close for the lead. One of the features of these regimental games is the evidence in the different company calls, which would remind one of a college football game.

The dog race is to take place on Kearney's Athletic Grounds, Newark, N. J., at 10 o'clock to-morrow. It will be a hot matter in the afternoon, and a large number of fine dogs have been entered.

The events which are open to all amateurs at the New York Athletic Club, N. Y., are as follows: 10-yard dash, handicap; 1/4-mile run, handicap; running high jump, handicap; 800-yard race, handicap; 440-yard race, handicap; one mile walk, handicap; 200-yard hurdle, handicap, and one-half mile walk, handicap. A gold medal will be the first prize and a gold medal the second in each event. Athletes will be allowed to practice at the armory Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

In the scratch billiard tournament at the Manhattan Athletic Club last night, A. C. Palmer defeated W. W. W. by 100 points to 100, and B. F. Stratton defeated E. Appleby by a score of 100 to 98. There will be no more games in this series until Monday next, when the final match will be held.

The amateur boxing entertainment at the New York Athletic Club this evening will be well worth seeing, as it is strictly a club subscription affair.

President Sam Hall, of the Downtown Athletic Club, has received a number of applications for membership, but they have reached the club limit.

The games to be rolled in the Acme Bowling Tournament next Monday night are as follows: Lincoln County vs. Prospect Hill; Acme vs. Lincoln County; Prospect Hill vs. Acme. The first prize is $100.

The best between Jimmie Carroll, of Brooklyn, and Mike Lantry, last night at the Fight Club Theatre was well worth seeing. It was a spirited contest and exceedingly clever.

The Union Athletic Club will hold a stag this evening, at their club rooms, 100 Madison street, Brooklyn. A special dinner will be given to the guests. The evening will be a very successful one.

The Varona A. C. will send out two teams in a cross-country run to-morrow. The slow team will have the minor part. Several of the Varona A. C. will participate.

The entries in the boxing tournament of the Brooklyn A. C. to-day with J. C. Cox, of the A. C., New York, and J. C. Cox, of the A. C., New York, will be the first prize.

Other events to be a trial fight to-night between Jack Smith and Jack Jones. The match will be made on even terms, when Jack Smith will be the favorite.

The Prospect Harriers, of Brooklyn, will commence training to-morrow in their practice cross country race in order to prepare for the championship.

No Skating Races Yesterday. (SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.)

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Moderate weather and a hot sun made the ice on the Hudson to-day more like slush than anything else. Skates cut in the surface to the top and after the competitors and officials of the National Skating Association had viewed the ice they decided to postpone the national races until Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. When the ice was better, it is likely that the races will be held. The races are to be held on the Hudson river, and the competitors are to be the best skaters in the country.

DEATH GRANTS A DIVORCE.

The Parties Were at One Time Prominent in Baltimore Society.

(SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.)
BALTIMORE, Feb. 6.—A cablegram from Dublin announcing the death of Mrs. Jane S. Fitzgerald was received in this city by her mother, Mrs. Jackson, late Wednesday night. The dispatch stated that the daughter had died in London and that the body had been removed to Dublin, where it would be buried. Nothing was stated as to the exact date or as to the cause of death.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was never in good health, and at times her coughing was very severe. It is thought that she died while suffering from one of these acute attacks. Her body will be buried in the family vault in one of the oldest churches in Dublin, in which also are buried her grandmother, her sister and her father.

Her maiden name was Sallie Jackson and she was the daughter of a prominent and wealthy Irish gentleman who lived in Dublin. Several years ago she came with her husband to this country, and while here met Dr. Delano S. Fitzgerald, to whom she was subsequently married.

When she was about twenty-two years of age, with dark-brown hair and eyes and a figure that was very tall and slim, the marriage was solemnized in this city, and Dr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald went to the residence of Dr. Fitzgerald, at Monument street, adjoining Grace Episcopal Church. They were leaders in the social life of this city, and for some years were much admired.

Within the last few weeks Dr. Fitzgerald had filed an application in the Circuit Court for an absolute divorce, and his wife had answered in the affirmative. He had died recently and left his large estate to his daughter, who was now in the Mount Vernon Hotel with Dr. Fitzgerald.

When the last time she had a wide circle of friends in Baltimore. In her manner she was nervous and inclined to be eccentric, the way of her father, who was a man of high social position. She was a woman of high social position, and her death was a great loss to the community.

Mr. Fitzgerald, replying to certain questions of Mr. Wilson upon the Board of Directors, created a good deal of talk by his allusion to the women of the world. He said that the women of the world were a great source of strength and support to the men of the world.

Mr. Wilson, of New York, introduced a bill to reduce the salaries of the members of the Board of Directors of the World's Fair. He also proposed to reduce the number of meetings of the Board. Mr. Butterworth, of New York, made a plea for liberal appropriations for the World's Fair.

BRIGANDS AND POLICE.

A Desperate Battle Fought on Board a Spanish Steamer.

HAVANA, Feb. 6.—The police of this city recently received information that several bandits had taken passage on the Spanish steamer Baldomero Iglesias at this port with the intention of making a landing on the island of Aspinwall. The officers at once prepared to capture the bandits and proceeded to the place where the steamer was lying.

When the bandits saw the police force approaching they decided to resist arrest and opened fire on the officers. The latter returned the fire and a desperate battle ensued. The bullets flew thick and fast, the passengers on the steamer were thrown into a great panic and the vessel was badly damaged.

The police finally gained possession of the steamer. Three of the bandits were killed, and the others were taken to the police station. The police are now searching for the remaining bandits.
